In about six weeks their wings are strong enough to carry them to the top of a high fence or among the branches of a tall tree. The mother bird talks to her babies with a soft crooning note when all is well, but when danger comes her sharp Quit! Quit! bids them seek shelter. Ordinarily Mrs. Turkey is very shy and timid, but if danger threatens her young brood she will fight the enemy, even though it be a dog, until every feather is torn from her body. The eggs and the flesh of the turkey are used for food, feathers used for making feather dusters. Comparisons with goose: Turkey. Head bare; bill, short, strong curved; legs, dark colored, covered with false scales; feathers, large, coarse; body, flat; eggs, spotted;...

Reviews

Totally one of the best publication I have got ever go through. It really is packed with knowledge and wisdom I discovered this pdf from my dad and i recommended this book to discover.
